On behalf of the board, we are all pleased The Charity Commission's official registration of the charity. Research work carried out by individual members necessitated this project, and we are enthused to address the inequalities bedevilling our communities. It is clear the charity has a major role, a much-needed presence to participate in poverty alleviation projects, especially for the struggling elderly and youths in our communities.

To this end, the charity's aims and objectives are clear tackling and laying the foundations for socially viable and sustainable programs achieve through social programs, networking, and social engineering of policies. A holistic approach and practical approach will enable us to reach the target group and effectively transform lives.

Over the past year, the charity has grown in terms of key personnel and clear strategies where various fundraising will be pursued and consolidation of office equipment, office itinerary and day to day activities.

As we advance, no permanent staff will be hired yet so as not to burden charity with unnecessary financial burdens, but key admin personnel identified who would step in as and when required.

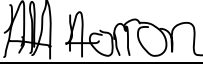

Tremendous work has been done thus far with charity logo, web site, YouTube channel were commissioned and soon be ready as tools to advertise the charity, raise revenues and sell its products. Also, key partners identified like local authorities, local supermarkets, local institutions, other voluntary organisations to establish concrete working relationships and possible collaborations.

We are pleased to report there has been resounding progress and strong linkages have been made and working relationship established. However, we are still reliant on own contributions, friends, relatives but with information from market research and listening to views from community and key partners the aim is to continue growing and engage fully in commercial fundraising to ensure relevance and viability.
