Trustees' Annual Report (continued)

Year ended 5 April 2021

Structure, governance and management

Constitution

The Save a Child charitable Trust is constituted by a Deed of Trust dated 16 May 1989.

Method of Appointment or Election of Trustees

The management of the Charity is the responsibility of the Trustees who are appointed under the terms of the Trust deed.

Organisational Structure and Decision Making

The Trustees do not receive any remuneration for their work although some travel and out of pocket expenses are reimbursed. The Charity has no office premises.

Save a Child has a sister charity, Save a Child (America) Inc, which is separately organised and managed under the legal and regulatory framework of New York State, USA. Louise Nicholson is also Chairman of Save a Child (America) Inc. The objectives and activities of Save a Child (America) Inc are identical to those of Save a Child. The two organisations share information and certain support costs such as website development and field trips. The reporting and financial statements of the two Save a Child charities are entirely separate.

Risk Management

The Trustees have considered the risks that the Charity may be running, including those arising from future inability to meet commitments they have made or from misappropriation. They consider the risks to be minimal.

Objectives and activities

Policies and Objectives

In setting objectives and planning for activities, the Trustees have given due consideration to general guidance published by the Charity Commission relating to public benefit as explained below.

The principal object of the Charity is to support the care, maintenance and education of children in India. This is done through supporters whose donations are associated with specific children at several well established residential institutional homes in Delhi, Kolkata and West Bengal, all with which the Charity has had a long and successful relationship. Save a Child also helps to support a number of children who have completed their basic education and are pursuing Higher Secondary and Further Education whilst living at home or independently. Additionally, Save a Child funds a number of projects that benefit groups of children at the homes it works with.

Activities for Achieving Objectives

Income is largely derived from donations from supporters who are linked to individual children, usually on a long term basis. The Charity enjoys loyal and long standing support from many of its donors who have supported children through the Charity for up to twenty years. The Charity also receives general donations and income from certain specific fund raising activities which are non-recurring.

Grant Making Policies

Rates for supporting a child in Indian rupees are reviewed at least on an annual basis and are paid on a standard basis, irrespective of the age of the child or the identity of the home. The policy of Save a Child is to pay a significant portion of the direct cost of maintaining a child at a home / school including food and education. Higher rates are paid to students in Higher Secondary and Further Education to assist with tuition, fees and travel as well as maintenance.

The Charity also makes grants to the homes in India or to activities linked to those homes. The policy of the Charity is to focus on grants for activities which directly benefit children and which do not involve either capital or routine operating expenditure. Examples are funding an educational outing from a home containing Save a Child-supported children, or funding the costs of a specialist teacher in spoken English or paying salaries for professional counsellors to help children who have been traumatised in early childhood.

Achievements and performance

Review of Activities

Save a Child does not manage or assist in the management of any of the schools or homes it supports. The Charity's function is to ensure that it chooses homes where the care is good and therefore there are good chances of a good outcome for the deprived children under that care. Therefore, the Charity both ensures the flow of funds to the homes is consistent and sends representatives to visit each one annually. They meet each child supported by the Charity and nurture a supportive - and where appropriate - advisory dialogue with the management of the homes; on their return they report to the Save a Child Board and to each supporter. The monitoring and mentoring of most of the students living outside homes to pursue Further Education is done by the relevant home. Save a Child's safe-guarding policy is published on its website.

The Save a Child field trip for 2019 took place in September and October 2019, funded by Save a Child (America) Inc. The Field Trip Reports can be found under News and Events at www.saveachildindia.com. Due to Covid, there have been no Save a Child Field Trips for 2020 and 2021, but each home has provided news about the home and children which has been sent directly to supporters.

Save a Child responded to Covid by keeping in close contact with the administration of each Home, writing a news report for its website and in January 2021 sending reports from all three Homes direct to every supporter, as well as posting these on the website. Each Home responded to the pandemic differently, but at all three Homes all children, except those without known families, returned to their families (as required by the Government of India), and at all three Homes online schooling, annual exams, counselling and activities continued.

In the year to April 2021 Save a Child continued to develop and refine options created by its new database. The database was upgraded in early 2021 to include an emailing facility, to report Save a Child matters and news received from the Homes in India direct to each supporter.

There were no fund raising events held during the year under review.

Investment Policy and Performance

The Trust deed gives the Trustees wide powers of investment. The Trustees have adopted a conservative approach to investment and hold the assets of the Charity in cash deposits and accounts.

Financial review

Going Concern

After making appropriate enquiries, the Trustees have a reasonable expectation that the Charity has adequate resources to continue in operational existence for the foreseeable future. For this reason, they continue to adopt the going concern basis in preparing the financial statements. Further details regarding the adoption of the going concern basis can be found in the Accounting Policies.

Financial Risk Management Objectives and Policies

Save a Child maintained its level of activities in supporting around 275 children and students in India, as well as funding supplementary grants including counselling / psychological support to the All Bengal Women's Union Home in Kolkata and a programme to encourage village girls to attend one of Ramakrishna Vivekananda Mission's schools near Purulia, West Bengal. The number of children sponsored includes those sponsored through our affiliate, Save a Child (America) Inc.

Income included the receipt of a Gift Aid claim for the year 2019/20. Gift Aid claims are made on an annual basis, covering the previous financial year. Against that background, the Trustees consider the underlying financial stability of the Charity is robust. Save a Child is well able to maintain its charitable commitments in India.

Reserves Policy

The Charity enjoys a comfortable level of reserves, in excess of more than six months' commitment of child support payments to India. The trustees consider that a good level of reserves is prudent, the level of which remains, as always, under review.

Plans for Future Periods

Mindful of the need to re-evaluate Save a Child's work to reflect changes in society, the Trustees will offer supporters equal opportunities to be associated with supporting a specific child or to make donations to one of several established Save a Child-funded projects related to the three Homes it supports. Save a Child is amending its website (www.saveachildindia.com) to reflect this slight broadening of its basic aims.

The trustees' annual report was approved on 24 January 2022 and signed on behalf of the board of trustees by:

Independent Examiner's Report to the Trustees of Save a Child

Year ended 5 April 2021

I report to the trustees on my examination of the financial statements of Save a Child ('the charity') for the year ended 5 April 2021.

Responsibilities and basis of report

As the trustees of the charity you are responsible for the preparation of the financial statements in accordance with the requirements of the Charities Act 2011 ('the Act').

I report in respect of my examination of the charity's financial statements carried out under section 145 of the 2011 Act and in carrying out my examination I have followed all the applicable Directions given by the Charity Commission under section 145(5)(b) of the Act.

Independent examiner's statement

I have completed my examination. I confirm that no material matters have come to my attention in connection with the examination giving me cause to believe that in any material respect:

1. accounting records were not kept in respect of the charity as required by section 130 of the Act; or
2. the financial statements do not accord with those records; or
3. the financial statements do not comply with the applicable requirements concerning the form and content of accounts set out in the Charities (Accounts and Reports) Regulations 2008 other than any requirement that the accounts give a 'true and fair' view which is not a matter considered as part of an independent examination.

I have no concerns and have come across no other matters in connection with the examination to which attention should be drawn in this report in order to enable a proper understanding of the accounts to be reached.

3. Accounting policies (continued)

Incoming resources

All incoming resources are included in the statement of financial activities when entitlement has passed to the charity; it is probable that the economic benefits associated with the transaction will flow to the charity and the amount can be reliably measured. The following specific policies are applied to particular categories of income:

income from donations or grants is recognised when there is evidence of entitlement to the gift, receipt is probable and its amount can be measured reliably.

legacy income is recognised when receipt is probable and entitlement is established.

Resources expended

Expenditure is recognised once there is a legal or constructive obligation to transfer economic benefit to a third party, it is probable that a transfer of economic benefits will be required in settlement and the amount of the obligation can be measured reliably. Expenditure is classified by activity. The costs of each activity are made up of the total of direct costs and shared costs, including support costs involved in undertaking each activity. Direct costs attributable to a single activity are allocated directly to that activity. Shared costs which contribute more than one activity and support costs which are not attributable to a single activity are apportioned between those activities on a basis consistent with the use of resources.

Fundraising costs are those incurred in seeking voluntary contributions and do not include the costs of disseminating information in support of the charitable activities. Support costs are those costs incurred directly in support of expenditure on the objects of the Charity. Governance costs are those incurred in connection with the general administration of the the Charity, including communication with sponsors as well as compliance with statutory requirements.

Costs of generating funds are costs incurred in attracting voluntary income, and those incurred in trading activities that raise funds.

Charitable activities and Governance costs are costs incurred on the Charity's educational operations, including support costs and costs relating to the governance of the Charity apportioned to charitable activities.

Grants payable are charged in the year when the offer is made except in those cases where the offer is conditional, such grants being recognised as expenditure when the conditions attaching are fulfilled. In particular, grants payable, whether on-going sponsorship of children in India or grants to the homes where the children reside are not paid until the conditions have been satisfied and therefore these are usually accounted for when they are paid.
