CHARITY STRUCTURE AND MANAGEMENT

A nominally paid CEO oversees the charity

A volunteer leadership team is responsible for running the various areas of the charity

Approximately 15 further volunteers also carry out work on a volunteer basis

Additionally 5 professionally qualified and experienced therapists (paid as contractors), including a Lead Therapist, oversee and deliver our services to families.

ACTIVITIES AND OBJECTIVES FOR THE YEAR

To expand the online resources available to parents of autistic children.

To work with our partner organisation (Norland College) to complete a Pilot of our new Family Services with a target family, and use the results to finalise and refine the development of the Therapeutic Framework and Programme Document, which will inform its implementation. We aim to be ready to start to roll out delivery to multiple families from 2022.

To establish the foundations of a fundraising strategy to fund the implementation and growth of the Family Services.

ACHIEVEMENTS AND PERFORMANCE AS WELL AS PUBLIC BENEFIT

- We continued to develop and expand our online resources for parents of autistic children, including the launch of an important new podcast, Autism for Parents, to give parents guidance on multiple aspects of bringing up their autistic children.
- We deepened our partnership with Norland College, and completed the Therapeutic Framework and Programme Document for our Family Services.
- We completed our pilot and refined the implementation documentation.
- We have started to build a list of trusts to apply to in order to fund the charity and the implementation of our Family Services programme, which we continue to build. We've also begun the process of applying to these Trusts. We have a plan to ramp up applications as we get closer to the planned roll-out of the services.
- We refined our volunteer recruitment process to enable us to bring in more dedicated and passionate volunteers and to recruit a strong team of highly capable and reliable therapists to work with families.
- We continued our partnership with Professor Simon Baron-Cohen of Cambridge University and the Autism Centre of Excellence and continued to provide them with research statistics on the use of the Q-Chat app that we developed together.
